YOUNG MAN, why is it that one chap about your age, on a moderate salary, can live well, dress neatly, save a little and keep out of debt; while another, same age, same salary, is always in debt and can't (?) save a cent? It will make a tremendous difference in your life which one of these chaps you resemble.

AMONG THE FARMERS.

"SPEED THE PLOW."

Up Attic.

A boiler and a kettle lid,
Some plates that Maggie broke and hid,
A chopping block, a knuckle bone,
A phonograph that doesn't phone,
Some lingerie that lingered long,
A mattress with the mat all gone,
A bustle out of grandma's trunk,
A rat trap and some other junk,
A demijohn of faint bouquet
(Sweet hundred proof of yesterday),
The sticks and tail of Johnny's kite,
A table lamp I dropped one night,
Tomato cans of "Auld Lang Syne,"
A hundred feet of washing line,
One pair of pants (demoralized),
One garden hose (demobilized),
Gas fittings from a former age,
One rocker, one canary cage,
A niblick and a baseball bat,
A bedstead and a broken slat,
The box in which the rabbit died,
The bike that mother used to ride,
Of many things a sundry crop—
From parlor chair to kitchen mop.

The King Farm.

Within the last few weeks that eminence Streaked Mountain, which can be seen from the surrounding territory of the towns of Paris, Norway, Buckfield and Hebron, has been attracting considerable attention, parties of all kinds making the ascent, some for the purpose of enjoying the view from the summit, which is superb, some to gather blueberries which cover the rounded dome, and others for a combination of the two.

Of course ascensions can be made from both Paris and Buckfield sides. If ease is desired, perhaps the latter has a preference; but a good many people climb the steep Paris side.

Directly beneath the mountain on the Paris side is the King farm, from which most people ascend from the Paris side. This farm is approached in two ways, one by an easy grade from the Stony Brook road, and the other by a hill and dale route from the Number Four Hill road, and quite a severe hill and dale route too. This farm, according to the United States topographical survey, is 1000 feet in the air, while the summit of old Streaked is 770 feet higher still.

This farm has been in the King family for several generations. Until within a few years the house which adorned the place was pointed out as the handiwork of one of the first of the proprietors, Captain Samuel King; but now those have been replaced by a new and attractive set of farm buildings. At one side of the farm is a cemetery where the earlier members of the family lie sleeping.

Captain Samuel King was the first of the family to live here and he has been succeeded by others who have occupied it for periods of varying lengths. Alonzo King lived here for a time, moving down to what is known as the Samuel M. King farm on the Stony Brook road. In fact there are so many King farms in Paris, it is hard to designate them so one can be told from the other. Then this farm was occupied by Julius A. King, father of the present proprietors, Carroll R. and Miss Myra King, brother and sister.

On the eastern side of the road are pastures, mostly, running up the mountain, while on the western side is a meadow expanse of grassland. Beyond this is woodland, and farther beyond on the horizon are the White Mountains but blue in the distance.

This farm is devoted to dairy business and apple raising, and is particularly adapted to both lines of agriculture.

Phosphate in Morocco.

Published reports that immense deposits of high-grade phosphate rock have been discovered in French Morocco are of considerable interest to American users of phosphate rock. In times of peace this country has in a single year sent abroad, mostly to Europe, 1,250,000 long tons or more of high-grade phosphate rock, or more than 40 per cent of its total annual output. The exports decreased during the war until, in 1918, they amounted to only 143,000 tons, or 6 per cent of the domestic output. They increased to 379,000 tons in 1919, but these reports of newly discovered large deposits in Morocco, which, like those in Algeria and Tunis, are near to the large fertilizer market in southern Europe, may mean that the American exporter of phosphate rock will have formidable competition in that region.

As superphosphate fertilizer is manufactured chiefly from phosphate rock, France, by her control of the deposits in Algeria, Tunis and Morocco, has a practical monopoly of the North African sources of a commodity that is essential to the restoration of European agriculture. When these deposits have been further developed and adequate transportation facilities have been provided the market for phosphate rock in southern Europe will probably be supplied from northern Africa.

The principal deposits in Morocco are about 80 miles southeast of Casablanca and consist of three beds or series of beds of phosphate sand in a formation that is 50 to 200 feet thick. The uppermost phosphatic bed contains 67 per cent of tricalcium phosphate, the middle bed 30 per cent, and the lower beds 53 per cent, and the commercial average for the group is about 59 per cent. Water and hydro-electric power for the exploiting of the deposits can be obtained from a river near by. In order to market the rock, however, a railroad would have to be built from the deposits to Casablanca, the nearest port.

Another deposit, which consists of soft phosphatic material carrying 72 to 75 per cent of tricalcium phosphate, lies 40 miles northeast of the principal one. Still another deposit lies a short distance southeast of Rabat, a coast town. This deposit consists of sandy clay 16 feet thick containing nearly 47 per cent of tricalcium phosphate.

All these deposits are reported to be large and rich, but no data available show their extent or value. Their development will doubtless be retarded by the necessity of making large investments for railroad and other construction and by the consideration that the shortage of phosphate in Europe has been due to difficulties in the Mediterranean shipping service rather than to lack of developed deposits of phosphate rock in northern Africa. Only those newly discovered deposits that are very rich and easily accessible, if there are such, can contribute soon and effectively to the world's trade in phosphate rock.

The American Cow Holds Her Own.

According to the statistical bureau of the Department of Agriculture, the American cow has kept pace with the speeding up of production which has characterized American industry and American agriculture. In 1870 the average cow produced 1,771 pounds of milk. In 1921 the average cow produced annually 2,622 pounds of milk. These figures do not take into account any milk used in farm homes or fed to calves and pigs. They are based solely upon the milk sold. They show in 51 years an increase in average production per cow of 53 per cent. This increase has been brought about by better stock, better feeding methods and better dairy methods.

Farm Women and Dairying.

As a result of 12,000 demonstrations in improved methods of home dairying given by extension agents, farm women are reported to the United States Department of Agriculture as having made according to demonstrated methods 3,300,000 pounds of butter during the year, 1,550,000 of which were sold, and in addition they sold 750,000 gallons of cream.

Millions of Grasshoppers.

Millions of grasshoppers, recently passed over Sheridan, Wyoming. They formed such a dense mass that the sun seen through them looked like a ball of cotton. They clouded the sky for over three hours.

Silo Filling.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Silo filling has come to be one of the standard operations on more than half a million American farms. The number of silos, too, is constantly growing, but there is plenty of room for growth; for experts tell us that at least half of the farms in the United States would be better off if they had a silo. That means that between two and three million farms are yet to be supplied with this very convenient and valuable piece of equipment.

There are thousands who are wanting information on matters relative to filling a silo. What is the best time to cut corn for silage? What is the best length? Is it a good idea to fill the silo rapidly or slowly? Is the addition of water a good thing? How can you pack the silage so it won't mold? How long does it take the silage to ferment and become fit for use?

Probably the greatest difference in opinion exists in regard to the time to cut corn for silage. The general opinion of most experts is that when the corn is in the hard dough stage, that is, when it still contains some milk and when the husks and lower leaves are beginning to turn brown. Naturally, the nearer the corn is to maturity, the more nutritious the silage will be, but one has to be sure there is enough moisture to insure proper fermentation. Corn that has not ripened sufficiently makes a rather sour silage, which lacks in nutritious elements.

The common length in which silage is cut varies from 1-2 inch up to 2 inches. Of course, the longer the cut, the faster will the filling be done, but long cut silage is hard to pack, and there is danger that it will not keep so well. The shorter cut is better, since it packs tighter, keeps better and requires only a little longer time and a little more power.

The time required to fill the silo is more important than many people think. Slow filling results in thorough packing and time for settling, which makes for less waste and for utilization of the full capacity of the silo. It is not always possible to fill the silo slowly, as there may be several to be filled and the work will have to be rushed. If there is only one silo to be filled, it is best to proceed steadily with the work, and fill the silo full, then wait a week letting the silage settle, then refill it to the top. Often it is possible to save some late ripening corn for the refilling. In case one has two silos, then the blower pipe may be switched from one to the other at intervals of a day, which allows steady settling.

It is very essential that the silage be spread uniformly and packed thoroughly. With blowers there is a tendency to separate all the heavy portions of the corn; the stalks and ears will likely be in the center, while the leaves and husks remain at the sides. For this reason it is well to have a distributor pipe within the silo which will simplify the spreading materially; it will also protect the packers and enable them to tramp thoroughly while the silage is being deposited on the opposite side. Most silo owners have learned by experience that the best way is to pack the silage in the shape of a saucer about two feet higher at the sides than in the center for the reason that the center, where the corn drops, gets packed harder than does the silage around the sides, and because there is less friction in settling near the center than at the sides.

Corn that is cut at the proper time does not need any water added to make good silage. However, if the corn has ripened pretty well, then some water will be necessary; especially is this true when refilling the silo late in the fall with mature corn, or with shocked corn. The water may be added by putting a hose in the silo and thoroughly saturating the dry portions, especially around the walls; or a one-inch stream of water may be run into the blower when it is at work. This will draw sufficient amount of water to insure good results.

Since exposure to the air is the main reason why silage spoils, it is practically impossible to prevent some spoilage at the top unless feeding operations are begun immediately. When care is exercised in filling, only a few inches of silage will be lost, but sometimes considerably more than this spoils. A very good plan is to level the silage well when finishing the job, then run in from six to twelve inches of chaff or cut straw. Some owners practice the sowing of oats in the top layer, which germinate and form a thick root covering which effectually seals the top. Another way which is strongly recommended is to pick out the ears of the last three or four loads of corn, then run the stalks through the cutter into the silo, and thoroughly pack, following this with twenty to thirty barrels of water, which will hermetically seal the silo and make only a very thin layer of waste.

Silage is usually ready to use in about two weeks. Feeding may be begun immediately, but it will simply be cut corn. Real silage is cut corn which has gone through the fermenting process, which of course begins within two or three days, but which requires from ten days to two weeks for its completion. If several weeks elapse before feeding is begun, it is well to discard the top layer as it may have soured due to exposure to the air.

Onion Seed.

Onion seed is for the most part grown on the island of Teneriffe, and exported from the port of Santa Cruz de Teneriffe by merchants of this island. Some seed is also grown on the island of La Palma, and further small amounts are produced on Gomera and Hierro. Production varies considerably from year to year, depending upon contracts placed the year previous by American seedsmen as well as upon natural conditions.

Planting is done in October and November, and harvesting in June, July and August. Exportation to the United States usually begins early in July, and should be completed soon after the middle of August, so that it reaches Texas onion growers in time for their fall planting.

A German engineer named Reilmann has just succeeded in perfecting a process for coloring living trees. It has been found that a whole tree from the end of its roots to topmost can be completely colored within forty-eight hours. Aniline dye is used. The final tests were made in the near-by forest of Tharandt in the presence of a representative of the Saxon government and a number of experts including professors from the Tharandt forestry school. Two Dresden firms have undertaken to exploit the patent.

The Trans-Pacific calls attention to demand for artificial fertilizers created by the agricultural development in China and Japan, and to the fact that recently a company was organized to erect a factory in Korea as soon as official sanction is obtained to manufacture fertilizers from bean cake, bean oil, and other vegetable oils and refuse.

The old-fashioned dirty hen nest seems to be doomed to extinction by a metal nest, which can be scalded periodically. A false bottom is another feature of the nest. It consists of a metal frame with holes, through which the eggs roll out of sight. This prevents the hen from sitting on the eggs, eating them or getting them dirty.

New England annually sends west and south $500,000,000 for food, thus greatly diminishing the purchasing power of her own immediate market for manufactured commodities. A large percentage of this food should be produced in her own territory.

A farmer was told that gasoline was good for fowls so he held the lantern close to make sure he was doing a thorough job and he hasn't (benzene) since.

SOUTH PARIS.

Mrs. Walter L. Gray was in Mechanic Falls and Lewiston Thursday.

Miss Mildred Briggs of Winthrop is spending two weeks with friends in town.

W. C. Rock was in Hebron Monday and Tuesday on business connected with the academy.

Miss Jane Shaw, who recently spent several days in town, has returned to her home in Buckfield.

Ralph R. Butts has been in Hebron during the past week, doing plumbing work on the academy buildings.

Charles R. Elder of Malden, Mass., was in town several days last week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Elder.

The Trumbull Players gave a fourth play for this season in Association Hall on Friday evening, "Fair and Warmer."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis attended a reunion of the Carver family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carver in North Leeds recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Twitchell and son Wendell have been visiting relatives in Kennebunk and Wells for a number of days during the past week.

Mrs. Howard Shaw and Mrs. C. W. Bowker will be at the same old booth in the hall during the Oxford County Fair as in previous years. Be sure and have some of those good lobster salads, rolls, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Davis, who have been visiting Mr. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Davis, have returned to their home in Hopedale, Mass. Mrs. Davis has been spending the summer in Norway with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pride, and Mr. Pride took them home in his auto.

Rev. J. E. Cochrane, one time pastor of the Baptist church here and later chaplain of the National Soldiers' Home at Togus and in the army during the world war, has been appointed professor of modern languages at Bishop College, Marshall, Texas, and leaves this week to take up that position.

The Burnham & Morrill Company's packing plant in this village, also the one in West Paris started up about ten days ago and have been busy since. The corn crop may not be as large as in some years, for it got a late start in the spring, and the wet weather of June put it back; but it is good ripening weather now, so a fair crop is hoped for, barring frosts. By the way, there was a frost in some parts of the town Thursday morning, which, a representative said, might hurt the crop a little.

Quite a strip of concrete sidewalk has been recently built on South Main Street, beginning at the junction with Barrows Street and running down past the C. W. Snell house. A strip has also been laid on east side of Barrows Street beginning at the corner of Main Street and continuing the length of the Odd Fellows' building. These two pieces of sidewalk give a finished appearance to the new Odd Fellows' building, leveling the gravel and the piles of building debris that have surrounded it during erection.

Friends and former parishioners of Rev. Edward A. Morris will be pleased to learn that he began his duties as pastor of the Associate Congregational Church in Baltimore on Sunday, Sept. 3d. The Baltimore News had quite an extended account of the new pastor and what he wishes to do in his new field of labor. It is an old church. It was known as the First Congregational Church of Baltimore before its merger with the Associate Reformed Church. It was founded in 1797. In fact Rev. Mr. Morris' first sermon fell on the 125th anniversary of the founding, so his first sermon was largely of an historical nature. The picture of the church discloses an attractive edifice but not altogether of an ecclesiastical design. The main part from Maryland Avenue is a circular structure of stone with tile roof, two stories in height, with sub-circular entrances on either side connected by a wide porch, along the front of which run circular steps with special double archway in the center. Rev. Mr. Morris' plan of work is very similar to that which he mapped out for the South Paris church, so his old parishioners will have some idea what he is doing.

LaFrance-McLaughlin.

On Monday morning of last week there were married at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Portland, with the rector, George P. Johnson, officiating, Joseph Francis LaFrance of Norway, and Miss Ruth Eleanor Mary McLaughlin of Portland. The maid of honor was Miss Blanche LaFrance of Norway, and the best man was Albert LaFrance, brother of the groom.

The bride was gowned in white Canton crepe with a veil of silk tulle embroidered with taffeta figures falling from a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies.

The dress of the bridesmaid was pale yellow organdie with lace medallions, and she wore a picture hat of white satin. Her flowers were vari-colored sweet peas.

The decorations were of evergreen and cut flowers. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by the organist, George A. Quimby, who also played the Mendelssohn wedding march for the recessional. Miss Adele Pinette sang an Ave Maria during the service.

At the closing of the church service a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. McLaughlin, for members of the immediate families. An informal reception was held following the meal, after which the newly wedded pair left for a wedding journey. The bride's traveling costume was beige French flannel with hat in harmony and cape of blue duvetyne trimmed with black silk fringe.

Mr. and Mrs. LaFrance will make their home in Norway, where the groom is employed in the Jackson-Greenlaw market.

What is probably the largest and oldest cucumber pickle in the world was brought into Johnston's drug store the other day by Charles W. Rawley, proprietor of the Wan-e-set Inn at Tenants Harbor. The unusual part was that although it was six or seven inches in diameter, it was in a bottle with a neck about the size of a fountain pen. Naturally it had been thrust into the neck from the vine when it was small. That was 15 years ago, and the size of it now would almost lead one to conclude that it has been growing ever since. The reason for bringing it to Johnson's was to change the vinegar to acetic acid, that it might be shown off to better advantage.

A strapping was administered to Bennie Bernstein, 9 years old, Laurel Street, Portland, by his father, by direction of Judge C. E. McGlauflin of the Portland Municipal Court recently. The boy was brought before Judge McGlauflin, charged with stealing a child's cart from a boy living on Free Street. The police said the boy had been concerned in other misdemeanors. The parent agreed to administer a strapping to his son in preference to having the boy subjected to a court record. The strap was applied in the presence of Judge McGlauflin in chambers.

We folks here in Maine have but recently witnessed methods of automobile registration in effect in Porto Rico. An automobile from that place has been in the Pine Tree State and the number plate bears the capitals P. R. and the figures 1922–1923. In that country the licenses are issued for the fiscal year, July 1 to June 30, rather than the calendar year.

NORWAY.

Rev. and Mrs. Dwight A. Ball of Kingston, N. C., were guests during the past week of Mrs. Alice E. Brooks.

Miss Eloise Hunt has gone to Livermore Falls, where she will teach school the coming year.

Dr. Marguerite E. Stevens, osteopath, will resume her practice in this village the present week after a vacation of several weeks.

William C. Higgins is on a furlough to Norway from the Soldiers' Home at Togus.

Misses Gertrude O. Gardner and Elizabeth O. Lasselle have gone to New Bedford, Mass., to take their positions in the public schools of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Graigton of Woodstock, N. B., have been recent guests of Miss H. M. Taylor. They have been enjoying a motor trip through Maine, taking in the Shrine meeting in Bangor, and on leaving Norway travel through the White Mountains and through Vermont and New York to Niagara Falls.

Miss Rose Hamlin has returned from a three weeks' visit in Massachusetts.

Frank Smith, who has been in Denmark during the summer, has returned to Norway.

The summer camps of boys and girls in Oxford County closed last week, and those connected with them have returned to their homes. Mrs. Annie Holt and two daughters and Miss Thelma Tracy, who have been at the girls' camp in Waterford, have returned to this village.

Harry Luck has bought the Wilbur Rogers stand on Beal Street.

Cecil Moore, young son of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, cut a cord in his thigh with a jack knife one day last week, which required several stitches to close the wound.

Joseph Lambert of Dorchester, Mass., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Luck.

Verne M. Whitman of Laconia, N. H., who has been attending the summer school at Columbia University, is at Sunset Camp, Lake Pennesseewassee, for a week or so.

The announcement of the engagement of Hugh Pendexter, Jr., to Miss Ruth Haines of Methuen, Mass., is made. Mr. Pendexter is too well known in town to need further mention. Miss Haines is a sister of Mrs. Donald Bartlett.

Miss Henrietta Taylor was in Boston several days last week.

Mrs. James B. Parse of Elmhurst, Long Island, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sargent.

Miss Vera Cameron of Hartford, Conn., and Miss Alta Cameron of Fryeburg have been guests of their sister, Mrs. Harry P. Downing, at the Downing cottage on Lake Pennesseewassee.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Paragard and Dr. and Mrs. Hewett of Cambridge, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Ridlon over Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. White of New York have been spending a few days with Mrs. White's aunt, Mrs. Rust Jackson, and family. Mr. and Mrs. White are on their honeymoon.

Mrs. Sara Howe has gone to Hampden, where she will teach Latin and French in Hampden Academy.

Mrs. Fred Hunt and daughter, Miss Mildred, who have been in Waterville, have returned to the home of Harrison Hunt. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fitch, making the trip to Norway by auto.

Mrs. Rose Rideout has closed her labors at the Norway Savings Bank, where she has been for many years, and gone to Newton, Mass., where she will live with her daughter, Miss Edith Rideout.

Roswell Frost has gone to Farmington to visit his daughter, Mrs. Eugene Flood, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frost took him as far as Bear Pond in Turner with their auto, where they met the Farmington party and all enjoyed a picnic dinner.

Mrs. Ada Durrell of Bethel has been visiting her grandfather, Roswell Frost, and her aunt, Mrs. Frank E. DeCoster.

Miss Marion Welch, who has been spending the summer in Winthrop, has returned to her home in this village.

John Cole of Boston is spending a couple of weeks with his mother, Mrs. William C. Cole, and his brother, Harry V. Cole, and family. They spent the holiday in Hastings.

Mrs. Gordon Noyes is spending several days in Bangor. Mr. Noyes will attend the University of Maine this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Bassett with Mr. and Mrs. Randall O. Porter and daughter, Miss Emma Elizabeth Porter, made an auto trip recently to Damariscotta, which was Mrs. Bassett's old home.

Charles Olfene and two daughters of Auburn were recent guests of his sister, Mrs. William Garey. While here they made a trip to Yagger, which was the former home of the Gareys.

Mr. and Mrs. Rust Jackson have entertained the following guests during the past week: Mrs. John Bradlee and daughter, Miss Eleanor, of New York; Mrs. H. G. Beck and J. H. Calderwood of Readfield; Mr. and Mrs. James F. Mitchell of Milton, Mass.; Charles R. Young of Dorchester, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon of Mattapan, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson with some of their guests made a trip to Old Orchard one day during the week.

Maine News Notes.

A castle in the highlands of Scotland has recently been purchased by a former Bangor boy, Carl P. Dennett of Boston. The castle is situated high up in the hills of Scotland, and is the home of a former laird. Mr. Dennett is well known in his native city. His war work in Switzerland with the Red Cross was highly commended. Many of Mr. Dennett's friends have been invited to visit him at his Scotland castle.

A young lady from Sweden, Miss Aina Wagenius, has arrived at Mechanic Falls, where she is visiting for a short time, before assuming duties as a school teacher. She has been teaching for four years in her native country, France and Algiers. She is an expert in gymnastic work, and also specializes in the Swedish medical massage. More attention is paid to physical culture in the schools of Scandinavia than here. "I see so many American women like this," Miss Wagenius said, making herself round shouldered. Gymnastics are compulsory in Swedish schools and adults also join physical training classes.

Abandoned cats to the number of 183 were killed at Old Orchard last season, after the summer folks had gone back to their homes, is the startling information made by William J. Dyer, secretary and state agent of the Society for Protection of Animals. Summer resorts are being posted with placards, warning the people not to forget faithful old Tabby, who has been their pet for the summer months. Leaving a poor, helpless domesticated animal to eke out a living until the snow falls and starvation or a more kindly death, freezing to death, reflects a great deal of unsavory light upon the summer sojourner.

Miss Helen Yorke will enact the role of "Micaela" in Carmen at the Maine Music Festival. This is most interesting news to her many Maine friends. It will be recalled that Miss Yorke's appearance at the music festival last year was a grand success and the audience attested to her popularity. A gentleman from Baltimore, visiting in Maine recently, declared that Helen Yorke always was a big drawing card in the Maryland city. She is a great favorite there. The Baltimore people are quite carried away with her charming mannerisms and her girlish ways. Her absolute lack of professionalism, as you might say, is a great asset.

PARAGRAPHS FOR THE NEW ENGLANDER

News of General Interest From the Six States

While in Auburn, Me. preparing for his wedding to Miss Avis Gertrude Smith, Theodore Roosevelt Cadwell of Philadelphia located his brother Richard, whom he had not seen for 18 years.

The detachment of cavalry in the Pawtuxet valley, R. I., strike area will continue on guard duty there, it was decided at a conference between Gov. San Souci and Adjt.-Gen. Abbot.

Unveiling a bronze tablet mounted on a large boulder of native stone on the site of the old fort on Butts hill, Portsmouth, the Rhode Island Daughters of the American Revolution, Aug. 29, marked the 144th anniversary of the famous "Battle of Rhode Island."

M. M. Spring of Portland Me., who planned to make a record automobile run of 100 hours from Portland, Ore., failed by 19 hours. After he arrived Police Inspector W. W. Wallace broke the seal on the hood of the car which showed Mr. Spring left the Oregon city Aug. 18 at 8 A. M

Cornelius Keefe, Boston hotel proprietor, is not entitled to the return of liquor valued at $250,000, seized in a raid by prohibition agents, several months ago, according to a report made by the United States district court by Arthur D. Hill appointed master to hear the case.

Maj-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the Boston army corps area, has decided to retire before Jan. 1, 1923, when he reaches the age of compulsory retirement. He has a record of almost 43 years' continuous service as a commissioned army officer, much of which was spent on line duty.

Saying that women are badly needed in the Rhode Island state Legislature and that Barrington itself needs a change in its representation in the general assembly, Mrs. Sara M. Algeo, a former teacher in Boston schools, in a letter to the Republican town committee of Barrington, announce her candidacy for the senatorship from that town.

On complaint of an older sister that she stole a jar of mince meat valued at $1, Miss Margaret Geary, 21, a telegraph operator, was arrested and kept in jail a week, when she was arraigned in South Boston court and was sentenced by Judge Day to three months in the house of correction. She appealed and, lacking bail, was sent to Charles street jail.

Irving Davis, 18, of Haverhill, who attempted to kill himself by cutting his throat Aug. 18, after being arrested by police inspectors charged with larceny of $500 worth of jewelry, and who has since been recovering at the Gale Hospital under police guard, has made three more efforts directed toward suicide while at the hospital, according to the police.

Fuel Director Andrew P. Lane of Maine returned from a trip to Washington, where he held conference with Federal Fuel Distributor Henry B. Spencer, Charles E. Spangler and general superintendent of Norfolk & Western railroad, coal operators and officials. Mr. Lane said that he was very well satisfied with his trip and he feels confident that Maine will get its share of coal.

Preparations have begun to tender a reception to Donald B. MacMillan and the six members of his successful Baffinland expedition upon their return to Wiscasset, Me., about Sept. 12 from the Arctic regions. The party was given a rousing send-off when the schooner Bowdoin left here in July, 1921, and at their time the explorer promised to come to Wiscasset upon his return.

For the first time in Androscoggin county, Me., and what is believed to be the first instance of its kind in New ngland, a man and his wife have been drawn to serve on the same jury. Louis Therrien and Mrs. Alice Therrien of Lewiston are the distinguished couple, both names having been drawn simultaneously from the jury box by Alderman Pinaud, to serve at the October term of grand jury in that county.

Because he seized a bottle and smashed it on the pavements, when he thought his friend was to take a drink of the contents which he feared was wood alcohol, Joseph Cote, a patient at Hebron sanitarium, was arrested charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws. When arraigned in court, Cote's story so impressed the judge that sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for three months.

Arthur E. Shaw, who lives in the Lawndale district, Franklin, is mourning the loss of his highly prized Airedale dog which is believed to have been poisoned. The disappearance of five gallons of gasoline from the tank in his automobile leads Mr. Shaw to suspect that some thief poisoned the dog so that he would not be molested in raiding the Shaw premises. The dog died in the yard adjoining the Central garage and manifested different symptoms of poisioning.

Because of numerous attempts to break into garages in the night time in North Andover, Mass., John T. Campbell, at whose place such attempts have been made three times within 48 hours, has offered a reward of $200 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty party.

Samuel Bobrowicz, a first-degree murderer, who has been confined in the criminal ward of the Connecticut State Hospital at Middletown, died as the result of a fight between him and another patient, William Hahn, on Aug. 18. Bobrowicz suffered internal injuries which resulted in his bleeding to death.

A verdict of $1,361,706 awarded John H. Sherburne, et al., receivers of E. R. Sherburne Company, Boston, against Moss & Co., Buenos Ayres, by a jury in the United States district court March 10 last in a breach of contract case has been set aside in a decision by Judge James M. Morton, Jr., who finds that as a matter of law the plaintiffs were not entitled to the verdict.

Elsie Hesebeck, 8, and George Hesebeck, 6, wards of Mrs. Emil Pfeiffer of Stanford, Conn., who would today be town charges but for the generosity of Mrs. Pfeiffer, are heirs to an estate in Germany, according to a letter received by Mayor John J. Treat, from Ernest F. W. Muller, a lawyer in Germany, inquiring about the whereabouts of their father, William Hesebeck.

The schooner yacht Sunshine, 52.9 feet in length, with a 20.2 foot beam, 34 net tons and 7.2 feet deep, left Portland for Boston where she will take on supplies for a trip around the world under sail. The Sunshine was built at Boothbay in 1901 for Dr. John Bryant of Cohasset, Mass. She is now owned by George Osgood of Boston who is preparing for the trip. The schooner carries a crew of four men.

Members of the U. S prohibition patrol boat, Hohn, stole at least five cases of liquor from the cargo of the British schooner Mariana at Newport, Saturday evening Aug. 12, after the boat had been seized off Block Island and for several days while guarding the ship at the state pier, Providence, were hilariously drunk, according to a statement made by Capt. Arthur Wentzell, skipper of the schooner.

That the United States government intends to bring to justice the person or persons responsible for the death of Major Alexander P. Chronkhite, son of Maj. Gen. Adelbert Cronkhite, at Camp Lewis, Washington, Oct. 25, 1918, was indicated at Providence when a federal subpeona was served on former United States Marshall John J. Richards to appear as a witness before the federal grand jury at Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 15.

The interstate commerce commission in a decision made public dismissed the complaints filed by commercial organizations and individuals in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island involving the class and commodity rates via ocean and rail route from Boston and Providence to points in the states of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and central and western Kentucky. The decision says in part: "Commodity rates from Boston and Providence are now from 3 to 6.5 cents higher per 100 pounds than from New York.

The Worcester, Mass., chapter of the Red Cross is investigating the claims of two women, one of whom lives in Worcester, each of whom says she is the mother of Harry H. Hill, former member of troop B, 6th United States cavalry. Mrs. Mary E. Hill Jenkins of 7 Hollis street, one of the claimants, says her son died 20 years ago in a cholera camp at Imus, Philippine Islands. She is nearly 70 years of age, is feeble and penniless, and has asked the local chapter to help her in obtaining a pension. Mrs. Jenkins's claims are disputed by Mrs. Dora H Freeman of Kokomo, Ind., who says that her son, George Hart, entered the army under the name of Harry H. Hill and recently died in Kokomo.

The amazing discovery that Mrs. John Mitchell, widow of Jack Mitchell, famous war correspondent, and a social favorite in Washington, London and Petrograd, had married an illiterate farm hand by the name of Wallace Cox, was made as a result of action brought against Cox, who is locked up in Middlebury jail, charged with assaulting a neighbor with a shotgun. According to Mrs. Cox, she married the farmhand, whose home is in Granville, after a desperate struggle to provide a home for herself and four children. Her life with Cox, formerly a laborer on Jack Mitchell's country home in Virginia, became a horror, and his being in jail, she says is like a merciful act of God, for she thinks perhaps it saved her from doing some terrible thing.

Five fishing schooners are seeking the honor of representing Yankee fisherman in the race for the international fisherman's trophy late in October. The elimination races will be sailed Oct. 12, 13 and 14 off Eastern Point. The vessels which will fight it out for the responsibility of trying to regain the trophy won last year by the Halifax fisherman Bluenose are expected to be Mayflower, Elizabeth Howard Yankee, Henry Ford and L. A. Dunton.

Few Conquerors Died in Peace.

It is remarkable how few of the discoverers and conquerors of the New World died in peace. Columbus died of a broken heart; Balboa was disgracefully beheaded; Cortes was dishonored; Sir Walter Raleigh was beheaded; Pizarro was murdered; Ojeda died in poverty; Henry Hudson was left to the mercy of the Indians along the bay which he discovered.

Her Vision.

A wealthy woman of fifty was told that her husband was in love with his stenographer. "You can see it yourself," they told her. She replied: "No, I cannot see it. A young woman or a blind woman might see it; but I am fifty and I am not blind. I know what not to see."—Charleston News and Courier.

No Place for Iceman.

Ice has been accumulating in the interior of Greenland since the dawn of history. It is estimated that at the present time the icefields cover an area of six hundred thousand miles, and are on an average a mile and a half thick.

Making Life Livable.

Somebody may always be taking the joy out of life, yet could not easily do so if more people were engaged in putting joy into life. To make life livable we must meet and overcome every influence whose tendency is to destroy human contentment and happiness.

Need New Supply of Nitrogen.

The more we get power from oil wells the greater the need is of obtaining nitrogen from the air. A vast amount of fertilizing material has been lost to American agriculture through the crowding out of millions of horses by millions of gasoline-driven vehicles.

Here and There.

There seems to be a bargain sale in titles on in England. If you want to be a duke or earl, put up the mon, that is, if you have it, and you can be accommodated with a nice little handle to your name. It is said the price for titles "over across" is about as follows:

Knighthood	$ 50,000
Baronetcy	200,000
Baron	400,000
Viscount	450,000
Earl	500,000
Marquis	600,000

That sounds interesting and it also sounds cheap—not the price but the method. Nevertheless, it may not be so different from methods here in democratic America. Titles over here, such as we have, won't bear looking into too closely in many cases. There was that old-fashioned case in Newburyport, Mass., where that eccentric gentleman or lunatic wished a title, so he turned his spare change into nickels and threw them out of his carriage while riding, as long as the boys would scramble after them, calling out "Lord Timothy Dexter." Perhaps most of the methods used are not quite so crude as this but many of them may be as disgusting. The American method seems to be that

"The world is built upon this plan,—
A man first makes some money
Then the money makes the man."

Eight comets are due to put in an appearance this year,—that is, if astronomers have made the right calculations. None of them have been seen so far, but two unexpected celestial visitors have come our way. The first one, which was discovered at the African observatory, Cape of Good Hope, January 20, evidently was shy of us and could only be seen as a telescopic object. The later one, known as Skjellerup's comet, first seen May 17, was not much better. Study of its orbit has caused astronomers to make a guess that it has been here before. They think it may have been Grigg's comet which visited us in 1902. Of those which are expected are Brorsen's which was last seen in 1879, and Barnard's, which was in our part of the sky in 1884. There are two which make periodic visits every seventy-five years, DeVico's and Brorsen's long period comets, Metcalf's comet, which took a look at us in 1906, and that swifter sport of light, Taylor's, which was here no longer ago than 1916. Daniel's and Perrine's may also show themselves at some time during the remaining months of the year.

Things have changed in Alaska during the past year, according to a returned traveler. The new government railroad has been completed as far as the Tanana River, so now one can travel by Pullman or observation chair car, where only a little while ago it was dog team or nothing. Either people's feelings have changed or the climate has. Only a few years ago one expected to freeze in that northwest corner of the world, but today they live as comfortably as in the state of Maine. Shortly after this territory was acquired by the United States, Capt. William T. Dodge of Welchville, then in the regular army, was stationed up there. He was married during this detail to a Welchville girl, Miss Minerva King, and they went up there to spend their honeymoon. Their habitation was in a dugout, with only the roof sticking out of the ground. Their first child was born during the time they were leading this primitive life, and Mrs. Dodge wrote home to her parents in Welchville that her baby was making mud pies on the parlor floor. It might be interesting to state that at that time there was only one mail each way during the year.

A new geyser is reported in the Yellowstone Park. What has been a quiet mud pool near the head of Obsidian Creek, one day recently became an active geyser, sending up a column of steaming hot mud, water and rocks three hundred feet in the air. This eruption lasted several minutes and has been repeated at irregular intervals since. This column is higher than that sent up by any other geyser in the park. This eruption inundated several acres of land including the automobile road between the Mammoth Hot Springs and the Norris Geyser Basin. It has been named the "Semi-centennial" in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the park this year. In 1915 this pool threw up water to the height of twenty feet, but it never has been in regular activity before.

The municipality of Colombo on the Island of Ceylon have made a new experiment in the way of road building. This city has used rubber for a surface. This material was first used as a surface on a private road in a rubber plantation, but the material was too expensive for this use except on a plantation where they could grow the stuff. The city, however, used rubber only as a base with a kind of bark as a filler. Colombo has quite a strip of highway paved with this composition, the wear of which is being watched with interest by the rest of the world. It would be somewhat singular if the world should use rubber both for tires and road bed.

The marriage rate in England for 1920, according to the annual report of the registrar-general, is the largest ever recorded,—20.2 per thousand of the population. The birth rate is also the largest ever recorded,—957,782, or 25.5 per thousand of the population. Both legitimate and illegitimate births increased. The death rate was remarkable also, being the lowest ever recorded,—12.9 per thousand inhabitants.

It has been announced that the number of people in the United States who cannot speak English is a little less than two millions. Some people have been mean enough to ask if this enumeration included train announcers.

A Memorial Public Library has been dedicated at Winterport and will be a memorial to the soldiers and sailors of the world war—the living as well as the dead. The building cost more than $10,000, raised by popular subscription.

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bearce with Roger took us to South Paris to call on Mrs. George Davis, and while there saw Mrs. Will Porter. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Porter were graduates from Hebron Academy, and among our dear friends in the school. We enjoyed seeing them after so long a time. We had not seen Mrs. Porter since her marriage, and it had been several years since we saw Mrs. Davis, and there was much of interest to talk about. If a person is given to the "blues"—which we are not—it would be a good idea for them to call on Mrs. Davis and get a dose of "Pollyanna", which ought to do them good and make them happier. We shall remember our call with the greatest pleasure.

About the State.

A new beef plant is to be erected at South Portland at a cost of $300,000, and 300 people will be employed. It will handle all varieties of fresh and smoked meats.

The leg of a frog cost Clifford Hagdorn of Livermore Falls the sum of $14.85. He was haled into court, charged with cruelty to animals for amputating one leg of a frog and then throwing the helpless animal into the street. He paid.

An old two-masted schooner has been turned into a most attractive tea room in the Sasanoa River, near Southport. The Mary Ann is a ship which patrons may board and there enjoy a lunch and a dance. This novel idea is attracting a great deal of attention.

W. H. Waterman of the Turner road, Auburn, was chased by a real, live bear one day recently. They met in an informal manner and the bear thought more of the man than the man did of the bear. The man ran and the bear ran, too, in the same direction. Mr. Waterman was picking blueberries, and as he happened to look up, he saw Bruin standing on his hind legs, interestingly watching him.

The lure of the Maine outdoor has drawn fifty-seven members of the Appalachian Mountain Club from Boston to Lafayette National Park at Mt. Desert. The party makes up the second division of the club's August camp, which has been one of the most successful in the history of the club. The site is ideal and every courtesy is being extended by National Park officials and by the residents of the island.

Hiawatha would turn his back on his picturesque birch bark canoe to-day, if he could see some of those 65-sport model canoes which the Old Town makers have been turning out. This same company recently made a record in canoe making, when they received a rush order for a lot and had the order filled in two weeks. This is some feat when one considers that it takes ordinarily six weeks for the paint on a canoe to dry.

Amos S. King.

Amos S. King passed away very suddenly on Tuesday evening, Aug 22, at his home in Locke's Mills. Mr. King retired in his usual health, but shortly after was taken ill and died before the physician, who was summoned, could reach him.

Mr. King was the son of the late Isaac and Mary Emery King and was born in Bethel sixty years ago last May. He was a millwright and for the most of his life was employed in the mills at South Bethel and Locke's Mills, although for the past three years he was employed by the Paris Manufacturing Co. at South Paris. A few weeks ago he returned to Locke's Mills where he was employed in the Tebbets mill to the time of his death.

Nearly forty years ago he married Jennie Goodwin who, with four sons and three daughters, together with several grandchildren, are left to mourn the loss of one whose chief joy was found in the family circle. One sister, Mrs. Willard B. Wight of Newry, survives him.

Of a quiet, retiring disposition, Mr. King did not have a large acquaintanceship, but those who knew him ever found him a cheerful companion and a loyal friend. His first duty was to his family, and this duty he performed in full measure.

The funeral services were held at the Locke's Mills church Aug. 25, conducted by Rev. Chester Gore Miller of South Paris. The many beautiful flowers from relatives, friends and fellow workers, both in Paris and in Locke's Mills testified to the love and respect for the one who was so suddenly taken away.

Interment was at Locke's Mills.

Oxford Pomona Grange.

Pomona Grange met with Round Mountain Grange, Albany, Tuesday. It was a fine day and there were a good number present. The officers were all present with the exception of Pomona. The Subordinate Granges were taken up as follows: Norway 5, Bethel 14, West Bethel 8, Round Mountain 20, Paris 10, South Waterford 8, Franklin 2, Sweden 3, North Waterford 1, Lakeside, Harrison, 2. The committee announced four candidates to take the fifth degree, and that degree was conferred on them. After the work dinner was announced and it was estimated that 150 persons partook of the bounteous repast.

A Strictly Dry Goods and Dry Goods Apparel Store

That caters to your Dry Goods and Dry Goods Apparel Needs

The Superior Service which this Store is continually prepared to render, is daily and sharply emphasized by its Merchandise of Quality and price advantages.

While the Fall season has not fairly opened, the new merchandise is already crowding forward in great quantities, and we may say that in making the plans for the new season, the idea of a complete representation of that that is newest and most worthy has been uppermost in our minds.

We mean that this store shall present advantages for purchasing that are unusual for its size.

New Coats, Suits, Dresses, Skirts and Waists

Expensive Only in Looks

Why, even a coat with a high fur collar and muff-like cuffs with all the newest touches is inexpensive.

But whatever you want, a decidedly "dress up" coat or a sport coat, you'll find it here at very much less than you thought you'd have to pay.

If you haven't seen the new garments, by all means come and let our salespeople show you how good-looking, how absolutely "different" they are.

Now is the time to buy, while the styles are newest, while choosing is so delightfully varied.

And, as everybody knows, much of the likableness of new styles lies in wearing them among the very first, so do come as soon as you can, try on the new Coats and Suits, and see which one seems just meant for you.

SOUTH PARIS.

Now wanes the summer to her twilight time,
June was her morning hour, July her noon,
August her evening and her afterglow;
Now crickets choirs in one clear cadence chime,
And like spun sunbeams goldenrod will soon
Drift down the lanes where purple asters blow.
—Elizabeth Scollard.

All Set for the County Fair.

Now all that is in question is the weather, and for that we can but hope. For though the association carries rain insurance, it is by no means desirous of collecting it. Better pay the premium and get the weather.

Already the cattle are wending their way to the county fair grounds, which during this week will be the objective of many thousands from all parts of western Maine. There will be no vacant space. Indications are that indoors and out it will be "full up."

As always, it will be a real agricultural fair, not an amusement park. Nevertheless there will be some entertainment features which are not usual, including the Keith circuit vaudeville entertainers, who will appear every day, and the auto races which will feature the added day, Friday. This is something entirely new on this track.

The midway too is already full to the cattle sheds, with the customary variety. Even the famous baby doll game will be here, but it is understood that since last year it has been expurgated, disinfected, deodorized and several other things, and made a game of skill, in which the element of chance entereth not. But it costs just as much to get into the game, and the winner gets just the same value out of it as before.

In the learned vocabulary of the twentieth century, let's go!

Curtis-Langley.

A marriage took place in Kennebunk on Wednesday, which is of interest to Paris people as the parents of the groom are natives of the town.

The contracting parties were Earle Hammond Curtis, a son of Oliver E. and Helen (Hammond) Curtis, and Miss Merle Frances Langley, a daughter of Mrs. Grace Langley, both of Kennebunk.

The marriage took place at the home of the groom's parents, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. William Wood, assisted by Rev. S. E. Leach. The double ring service was used, the bride being given away by her mother. "The wedding march was played by Harold Curtis, a brother of the groom. About thirty relatives and friends were present. The bride wore a traveling suit of mauve, with hat and gloves to match.

The bride is active in Methodist church work. She graduated at the Kennebunk High School in 1920 and was valetorian of her class.

The groom is a graduate of the University of Maine in the class of 1921, and has been until lately a milk tester in New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis made a wedding journey to Paris. On their return they will reside on a farm in Alewive recently purchased by Mr. Curtis.

Brooks-Ware.

Homer Chester Brooks and Mrs. Helen Ware, both of South Paris, were united in marriage at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, Sept. 9, at the home of Mrs. Lizzie LeBaron at South Bridgton. Rev. George H. Woodward officiated, using the single ring service. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue with hat in harmony. A nice lunch was served by Mrs. LeBaron.

The groom is a carpenter and builder, and has recently been engaged in that work here for some time past. Mrs. Brooks has for some years conducted a boarding house in Market Square. Mr. Brooks is to be engaged in work on extensive building operations at the Morey Farm, Mechanic Falls, and he and Mrs. Brooks will have charge of the boarding house for the help at the farm.

Base Ball at the Fair.

The Lewistons will play against the Twin Towns at the Oxford County Fair on Tuesday afternoon, September 12, and Thursday forenoon, September 14, at 10:30 o'clock.

The make up of the Lewiston team will be largely that of the Star Taxis, which has been playing during the past season, including Buckland, Gaudette, Matthews, Quinn and others.

The Twin Town players will include Masterman, Benson, Fuller, Emery, Hunt, Purrington and others.

John E. Jacobs and his two sons, Joseph E. and Morris A., of Everett, Mass., were arrested Monday in Revere, Mass., by three Boston police inspectors, on complaint of Y. A. Thurston of Andover and two other men, who claim to have been swindled out of $16,000. Mr. Thurston claims he lost $10,000 while the other two men lost $3,000 each.

Republican Meeting.

The last local rally of the Maine political campaign was the Republican meeting in Association Hall Wednesday evening, at which there was a good attendance of both men and women. There was music by Dunham's Orchestra. Harry M. Shaw, chairman of the Republican town committee, presided.

The first speaker was Donald B. Partridge of Norway, clerk of courts, who spoke in his ready and convincing manner. Reviewing the events which brought the Baxter administration in, Mr. Partridge emphasized the fact that Baxter has been governor and no one else. Governor Baxter has conducted a clean campaign, and is entitled to election. Senator Hale and Congressman White were referred to as faithful and efficient public servants whose valuable services should be retained, and the Harding administration was commended.

United States Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, who was announced as the other speaker of the evening, could not be here as all senators had been summoned back to Washington, and in his place was substituted Congressman Martin B. Madden of Illinois, who is of long service and is chairman of the house committee on appropriations. After some eulogistic and complimentary remarks regarding Maine men at Washington past and present, Mr. Madden went into some description of the condition of governmental affairs under the preceding Democratic administration and the endeavors which the present congress and administration had made to straighten out the tangles. In this they have been to a good extent successful, and the expenditures of the Democratic administration, and their estimates for the future expenditures, have been reduced by many hundreds of millions. Mr. Madden indulged in no oratory, but his speech fairly bristled with significant figures in billions and millions.

An Interesting Case.

Residents of Oxford County have heard a great deal of late about rum selling and booze running, especially in the northern part of the county. Deputy Sheriff Cedric Judkins of Upton has been very active in apprehending booze runners, and has had many adventures in this work. He, in connection with Federal Agent R. H. Butler, pulled one off a few days ago.

Rum selling and booze running had become so active in Rumford and vicinity that about twenty federal officers put in an appearance in that burg recently, and one of them went to the assistance of Mr. Judkins of Upton to apprehend one or more noted runners who were expected to land a cargo in Rumford. The scene of the capture was laid on Upton Hill in the early morning.

Messrs. Judkins and Butler held up two automobiles. The first one was evidently a pilot and contained nothing contraband, but the next one was a veritable traveling rum shop. It was driven by Albert Paradis, and he had with him Mark Steinfield. Both men were from Rumford and both were arrested. The cargo included sixteen cases of whiskey and gin, two cases of wine and one of beer.

While the officers were taking care of the stock, Steinfield succeeded in making an escape, being taken to Rumford, it is thought, in the pilot car. Butler started for Portland with Paradis and while telephoning in Rumford, Paradis also succeeded in making an escape.

Sheriff Harry D. Cole was notified of the state of affairs and he procured two warrants from the court and set Deputy Sheriff Harry O. Stimson of Norway on the chase. Mr. Stimson located Paradis in Rumford and brought him to South Paris. A little later Deputy Sheriff Ivan L. Stowe of Rumford found Steinfield in Rumford and he was brought to South Paris.

They were taken before Judge William F. Jones of the Norway Municipal Court, where both were found guilty of illegal transportation, fined $200 each with sixty days in jail. Each pleaded not guilty and furnished bonds for appearance at the October term of Supreme Judicial Court at South Paris.

At this point the federal officers stepped in and Paradis was taken to Portland by Deputy United States Marshal Simeon Harriman to answer to a search and seizure charge, his premises in Rumford having been searched and a quantity of liquor found, it is alleged.

Resolutions of Respect.

The sudden passing away of our dear comrade, Whitfield Stuart, has brought sadness to all the comrades of W. K. Kimball Post, of which he was an honored member. All those having the pleasure of his acquaintance held him in very high esteem. He was as noble in peace as he was valiant in war, and in view of his services as a soldier of the civil war, it is but just that the comrades of our post offer a tribute to his memory. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of W. K. Kimball Post, G. A. R., sincerely mourn the loss of a respected comrade, whose gentle smile and friendly hand-clasp are gone, but his worth as a citizen and friend will long be remembered. We, his comrades, realizing the irreparable loss to his nearest and dearest ones, extend to them our sincere sympathy, and may they receive consolation from the thought that their loved one has arisen to a life of joy and peace.

Resolved, That these resolutions be written upon our post records, and a copy sent to the Oxford Democrat for publication.

NORWAY.

THE ARABIAN NIGHTS.

Dreams of the desert and the narrow streets
Of ancient Cairo, where the wide world meets
In strange confusion 'mid the city's mart
There called together by the Teller's art;
To hear with eager longing and surprise
The thousand Tales of Wonder and emprise;
Tall travelers from the Mountains of the Moon,
Swart Syrian sheiks from distant Scanderoon,
Dark Abyssinians, and the lords
Who rule in terror o'er Sinai's hordes;
Pale Persians from far Ispahan;
Wild servants of some Tartar Khan;
Red Sea rovers from Aden's shore
And Hindu hinds from Midnapore;
Pilgrims and Priests from Cashmere's lovely vales,
Or borne from Ceylon's Isle by favoring gales,
Out of the East where poor mankind was born
To greet the Prophet in the early morn;
Listening with widened eyes and open ears
To changeless romance from departed years.
Here rise Aladdin's castles on the sand
While jewels shower from the Afrit's hand
And Sinbad voyages over surging seas
Through great adventures to luxurious ease:
The Genie loosened from his copper flask
Expands his form and now essays his task,
Shah Zemen greets his princess from her cave
Deep in the coral underneath the wave
And through the Bagdad streets at midnight hour
Wanders the Caliph and the wise Mesrour,
O glorious tales to make a gray world bright
And leaven dullness with their fancy's flight,
Ye come from Nothing and go back again
Into the spaces of the Asian plain!

The Daily Routine of Up-stairs Work.

As soon as the down-stairs general work is completed, go up-stairs to the rooms already left airing by their occupants.

Tidy the bathroom first. Clean and disinfect the bowls, wipe off faucets. Wash and replace drinking glasses. Wash the floor only once a week unless needed. Return any supplies to medicine cabinet. Wash the tub even though each user accomplishes the same task. Renew soap and bathroom supplies from the store shelf.

Keep in the bathroom a basket containing a package of friction powder especially adapted for use on porcelain and enamel; a flannel polishing cloth for the nickel; a long-handled, woven-wire brush for use in the bath tub, a bottle of any household disinfectant; and finally a bottle of a mixture of half turpentine and half water with enough oil of lavender to cut the odor. There is nothing better for cleaning porcelain and enamel than a small quantity of this mixture applied on the brush and followed by a scrubbing with hot water. Even the sticky deposit from hard water yields to it.

Renew linen from the linen closet. Hang up fresh linen towels of two sizes, as well as bath towels. Be sure to give the guest bathroom an inspection visit, even though there is no guest.

"Do up" one room at a time. Put away garments and shoes. Disturb personal possessions as little as possible. Tidy around them. The very first step in bed-making is bed-airing. Be sure that both big and little members of a family open windows wide and throw clothes and pad clear back over the footboard in order that air and sun may reach them. It is not necessary to turn a mattress every day; once a week is ample to keep any mattress in good condition.

At the same time put on fresh linen, changing both lower and upper sheets. Some housekeepers prefer to use the upper sheet again as a lower and thus reduce the linen laundry. There can be no real objection, so let the individual preference govern this. The point is to have a system and use it, making the change each week on the same day. In my home Saturday is the day. Pillowcases are changed twice each week, oftener if there happens to be a victim of insomnia to consider. A fresh pillowcase is a real invitation to slumber.

When ready for the actual making of the bed, spread the mattress pad smoothly over the mattress. Next open the sheet and turn under at the foot on both sides, using the same amount of sheet to insure a straight line at the foot. Do not try to make one whole side of a bed before you go around to the other side, even at the cost of more steps, because the taut, smooth, unwrinkled lower sheet so necessary to comfort can not be secured unless an even tucking-in at the foot is first secured. Now pull the sheet smooth and as tight as you can at either top side. This smooth sleeping surface is the secret of comfort.

In the same way put on the top sheet, though in this case it is seldom necessary to work on both sides of the bed for smoothing out the top section, since the arms will reach over any but the wider beds. The only thing to be careful of is that the line at the foot is a straight line. Use enough sheet for tucking in to secure strength. If a bed is made thus, it can be remade next day with very little attention to the foot, since even the most restless sleepers can not pull the clothes out of line. But two days is the limit of time a bed should be casually made.

There is a bit of a wrinkle in putting on a blanket that needs a word of explanation. First, if your blankets are short, lay one of them on the bed reaching only to the foot and with no attempt to tuck it in. Lay the second one to give you plenty of "tuck-in" material, and you will find that it will hold the first one securely in place, giving strength and shoulder warmth as well. When the blanket is tucked squarely at the foot, lay it back and over the mattress along the side until the side edge of the blanket is at right angles with the bottom line of the mattress. Then tuck the bottom edge smoothly under and bring the whole blanket over and fold smoothly under the mattress. You will find that you have a clean-cut, diagonal fold line, and that it holds the clothes as if in a vise against the most active childish or adult restlessness. Blankets do come long enough for comfort, but it is not easy to find them in the stores. The common sizes are too short.

Bring the blankets smoothly to the top and fold the sheet over them as deeply as possible. One fourth of the bed length is none too much for blanket protection. With such care blankets can be kept fresh and clean with no necessity for too frequent washing.

Finally, lay the spread smoothly and roll the puff or comfortable in as tight a cylinder as possible and place it at the foot of the bed.

Much more comfort is afforded where the slip is selected large enough in size that the pillow may have freedom. A tight pillow-case means a hard, tight bundle under the shoulders and head. It wears the pillow-case, it wears the pillow, and it wears the nerves of the sleeper. Learn to use pillows as flat as possible.

Next, use a soft floor mop, paying especial attention to the floor under the beds. The downy fluff found there is not dust, but the fluff from blankets. Once a week use the wax or oil polish mop, and vacuum clean the rugs. Dust the sleeping-rooms every day. Wipe off dressing tables and dressers if glass-covered. Dust if linen covered, and renew linen covers when needed. Once in two weeks is ample where daily care is given thus.

Remove vacuum water jugs and carry down stairs for filling and use at night. See that all candlesticks have candles in them, with a safety match-box at hand for lighting in emergency.

Finally, dust-mop the hall, and on Wednesday sort and put away the clean linen from the laundry, carrying the basket filled with mending into the sewing-room for attention there.—Good Housekeeping.

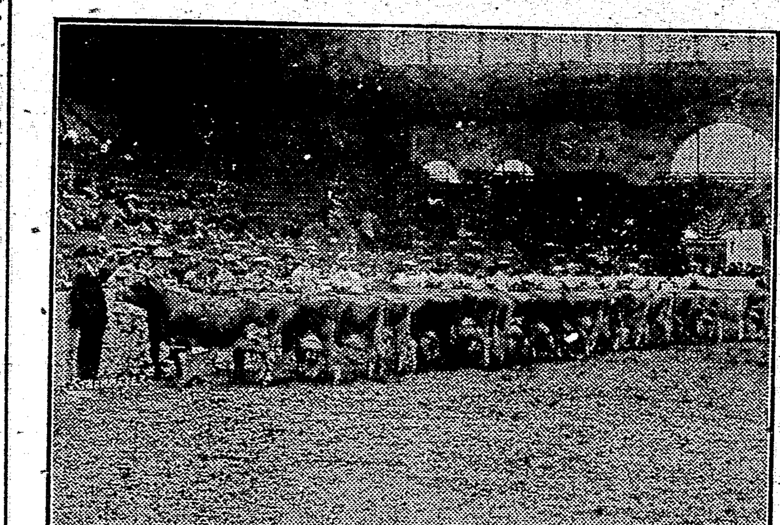

A Kitchen Table—Instead of the regulation kitchen table which in my friends' homes I often find too low to work at conveniently, I have a large office table, which my husband has enameled white. Instead of oilcloth to cover it, we have used inlaid linoleum cut the exact size. This "stays put," does not wrinkle or crack, and scours beautifully. We have been using this desk table for over a year and it has proved perfectly satisfactory. We have also had the linoleum cut to fit the tops of other pieces of kitchen furniture—stands, shelves, etc. Especially useful is the piece on the ledge above the gas stove plate, where we lay spoons and forks used while cooking.

Putting Away Screens—Very soon we shall all be storing away the window screens until next summer. Perhaps every housewife does not know that it is possible to buy at a hardware store duplicate sets of numbers on brass tackheads. Tack one of these numbers on a window frame and the corresponding number on the screen belonging to the window. Then there will be no trouble next spring in fitting the screens, as you will know instantly where each one belongs.

To Remove Scratches on Furniture—An effective and handy method of removing scratches from polished furniture is to use brazil nuts or walnut meats. The nut-meat is pressed upon the part of the furniture which is to be cleaned, or from which the scratch is to be removed, and is rubbed into the wood with the fingers. The natural oil in the nut is very effective.

To Train the Cuticle—A good way to keep down the cuticle that persists in covering the half-moons of the finger-nail is to press it back with a rubber eraser. The end for erasing ink takes off the cuticle, and the softer end rubs it off very easily. As such an implement may be kept in any convenient place, it helps a busy woman to remember the care of her nails.

Aristocrats of Barn and Pen Meet at Eastern States

JERSEY CATTLE READY FOR THE JUDGES

Aristocrats of barn, range and pen drawn from all parts of the East and Middle West, will come into their own at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass., from Sept. 17 to 23 inclusive, according to the entries so far received at the Exposition general officers. Twenty-five hundred individual animals, leaders of type, breed and class, will be shown at Springfield this fall, representing more than $2,000,000 on the hoof.

Ever since it was established six years ago the Eastern States has built its reputation on its livestock classes and this will be more than maintained this year. The management has always recognized livestock as the basis of agriculture and has also fostered the belief that successful farming can be accomplished only when done through the hoof.

The four leading dairy breeds, two dual purpose breeds and three breeds of beef stock, will be the leaders in the cattle division. These will include Ayrshires, Guernseys, Jerseys and Holsteins in dairy cattle; Milking Shorthorns and Devons in dual purpose types and Aberdeen Angus, Herefords and Beef Shorthorns in the beef classes. There will also be more than 100 baby beef steers, six entries of carload lots of fat cattle grown and raised in New England and a separate classification for steers and fat cattle.

Clydesdales, Percherons, Belgians and draft horses in harness will comprise the draft horse division. Hampshires, Chester Whites, Berkshires, Poland Chinas and Duroc Jerseys will be shown in the swine pens and sheep will include Dorsets Cheviots, Rambouillets, Shropshires, Southdowns, Hampshires Merinos, Delaines, Lincolns and Leicesters, Wethers and the entries of the boys and girls who are members of sheep clubs.

Backing up the livestock exhibits there will be a series of sales of purebred animals and commercial beef stock. The last named will include the baby beef steers of the boys and girls. This will take place Tuesday, Sept. 19. Others are the sale of Milking Shorthorn cattle on Wednesday, Sept. 20, Hereford cattle on Thursday, Sept. 21 and Aberdeen Angus on Friday, Sept. 22. The several sales will be under the direction of the Eastern breeders organizations of the respective national breed associations.

Home Department Scope Increased

New Divisions and Buildings Added For 1922 Exposition

Home Department exhibits at the Eastern States Exposition this year which takes place from Sept. 17 to 23 inclusive in Springfield, Mass., will be carried out on a larger and more comprehensive scale than heretofore. Several important additions to the group of model cottages have been made since last year and many new features have been incorporated in the home department programs by Mrs. Schuyler F. Herron of Boston who will act as superintendent of the division.

The women's exchange, established in 1921, has been enlarged to include exhibits from the 10 North Atlantic states and not merely New England, and an effort will be made not only to have the exchange in operation during the Exposition but to establish it it operative throughout the entire year.

Another important department will be devoted to child welfare. This will be under the direction of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health and the exhibit will include a complete wardrobe for the baby, a display of the correct toilet articles, uses of the portable tub for bathing small children, etc. In the nutrition exhibit there will be shown model meals for children ranging in age from two to six years, and this will also include food menus of the right type for an entire family of average numbers with particular attention to the proper balancing of the family ration so far as it concerns the presence of vitamine bearing products.

In the child welfare cottage there will be an exhibit, also under the direction of the Department of Public Health devoted to oral hygiene and dealing directly with the care of mouth and teeth, especially the teeth of children, together with the necessary toilet articles and preparations that will best aid the child toward attaining a high standard of health.

There will be a display of clothing as well, and this will be under the direction of students from Simmons College. The garments shown will be the work of the Simmons students, and the keynote of the clothing exhibit will be simplicity and health.

A children's playground has been added to he Home Department area and a feature of the daily program for the kiddies will be daylight motion pictures as well as supervised play.

TO MAR ST. MICHEL'S BEAUTY

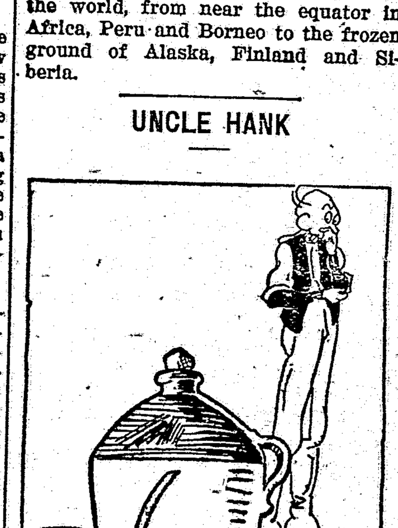

Silting Up of the Bay Is Causing Much Anxiety to the People of Normandy.

The steady silting up of the Bay of St. Michel is a cause of much anxiety to the good people of Normandy. It threatens to spoil the beauty of the famous Mont St. Michel's, which at present is linked to the mainland only by an artificial causeway. Formerly the Mont, which in the course of the centuries has been by turns a Druidical shrine, a Benedictine abbey, and a state prison, and which, since its restoration by Violet-le-Duc, is jealously preserved as an historical monument, was as inaccessible at high tide, except by boat, as its Cornish counterpart, St. Michael's Mount still is. But the causeway enabled a light railway to run to the very foot of the Mont, and this causeway is stated by experts to be one of the great causes of the silting up, which it is predicted, will eventually make the Mont just part of the ordinary coastline.

Gold Practically Everywhere.

Gold, the aristocrat of metals, is found to some extent in every part of the world, from near the equator in Africa, Peru and Borneo to the frozen ground of Alaska, Finland and Siberia.

UNCLE HANK

Some fellers get just enough mileage out of a gallon of whisky to carry them to th' police station.

FRUIT EXHIBITS

Exposition To Have Selected Orchard and Garden Products

Fruits and vegetables from every part of the 10 North Atlantic states, the best that fields, gardens and orchards afford will be displayed at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass., from Sept. 17 to 23, in a group exhibit in the Coliseum building arranged under the direction of the Exposition management and supervised by A. R. Jenks of West Acton, Mass., assisted by F. C. Mattison of Rocky Hill, Conn.

The fruit and vegetable display will be one of the most comprehensive ever attempted at the Exposition and by means of group exhibits drawn from a wide territory proper methods of grading packing and marketing will be shown.

Great care is being exercised by Mr. Jenks and his associates in selecting standard commercial varieties of fruits and vegetables of the proper grade. These will be of exceptional quality and the entire exhibit is designed to present to producer and consumer the quality products that can be grown with the greatest benefit to consumer and an equally satisfactory margin of profit to the producer.

DAIRY DISPLAY

New England Council Arranges Unique Exhibit

One of the newer and more unique exhibits to be shown at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass, from Sept 17 to 23 inclusive, will be the display being arranged by the New England Dairy and Food Council under the supervision of Prof. W. P. B. Lockwood, managing director of the Council.

This display will be built up around the slogan that "the cow is foster mother to the world" and in addition to charts, diagrams, etc., tending to prove the point presented by the Council, it will include several different species of animals.

The Dairy Council is feeding pigs, chickens and puppies at the Massachusetts Agricultural College in Amherst and will show at the Exposition the difference between those fed without milk or with the use of vegetable oils and when fed with milk or butter fat. In addition to these things, the Dairy Council expects to obtain from the National Dairy Council in Chicago, rats that have been fed with oleomargarine and others that have had butter in their diet. There will also be some mechanical exhibits and there will be a complete record of the feeding rations used at the State College in conducting work for the Dairy Council exhibit.

IS IT YOUR KIDNEYS?

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A South Paris Citizen Gives a Valuable Hint.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is where danger often lies. You should realize that these troubles often lead to dropsy or Bright's disease. An effective remedy for weak or diseased kidneys is Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the experience of a resident of South Paris who has tested Doan's.

Mrs. Mary C. Durell, Myrtle Street, says: "I had an attack of kidney trouble and the worst symptom I had was with the kidney action. My kidneys didn't act right and my back had a weak feeling. I was tired and nervous, until I was told to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I went to the Howard Drug Co.'s store and got two boxes of Doan's. After using them, the trouble left. My kidneys were strengthened and the backache has never returned. I recommend Doan's for the benefit of others suffering from kidney complaint."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Durell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
